

Numbers of the Zodiac

Two: Origins of Polarity

The Two of "You"

The Northern section of the astrological chart is everything BELOW the East/West axis.

The Northern hemisphere represents you, the individual.

The Southern hemisphere represents you as a working part of a greater whole. It's "you" the collective.

For some crazy reason, we print the chart inverted. It's all scientifically explained, AND I don't like it! To me, it is a bad spell. It's like the designer of the chart was trying to create an inverted world.

What do you think?
